

English Club with Matt

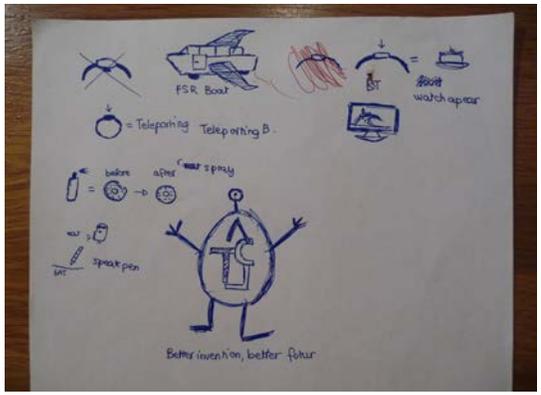

(Monday and Tuesday lunchtimes)

It's been an excellent start to the school year. Due to many new recruits, the English club has been split into two groups, which means double the fun for me!

As usual I've been working together with the two groups to come up with activities that interest them and allow them to improve their English skills.

Some of the activities we've done include crazy inventions, DIY board games, vocabulary quizzes, building competitions, origami, the list goes on.

I've really enjoyed getting to know the new members of the club and the members from last year who stayed on are just as adorable as ever.

Theatre Company with Aude

(College 4.30pm on Fridays)

Through improvisation we are looking at how childhood tales can be twisted. I am not using scripts for the moment as I would like the children to write their own.

Watch this space...

Onstage with Aude

(Primary after school Thursdays)

We are doing games, small improvisations. I have also given 2 small plays for the 3 girls.

Planning on doing the Arabian Nights which will be fun with all the different characters and interesting costumes.

Kids Club with Judith

(Thursday lunchtimes)

Yet another great group this year, 6 boys and 6 girls! We started off the year making membership cards with a secret code. Then we all brainstormed about things they would like to do during the year. Their first idea was a Halloween themed wall display. As a surprise, just before half term we had a party! Masks, a quiz, a skeleton relay, pin-the-boo-on-the-ghost and of course lots of sweets! Most recently the Dragibus challenge made a comeback in the form of 4 marshmallows and a bag of popcorn (see photo) with the arty "Flying Popcorn Tower" being the clear winner! Lined up we have making boards games, art projects and I have a lovely Christmas themed idea for the last couple of sessions of the year...
